Message from the Head

Dear Readers,

The year 2019 was memorable for our organization, as we accelerated investment and technology promotion programmes with a special focus on Africa. The Seventh Tokyo International Conference on African Development (TICAD7) held in August 2019 in Yokohama provided us with an opportunity to undertake various activities, such as the promotion of African countries’ investment environments, business matching between Japanese and African companies, and the promotion of unique and innovative Japanese technologies to address environmental issues and sectoral needs in Africa, to name a few. Such activities were not only held during TICAD7, but also before and after the event.

At TICAD7, we organized no less than nine seminars and side events attracting more than 1,000 participants. We focused on B2Bs and B2Gs, by holding business matching events between African and Japanese companies and government representatives. These events alone resulted in 364 business negotiations that are being followed up. Please refer to Pages 14-15 of this report to learn more.

Africa is now increasingly attracting the attention of Japanese companies seeking diversified business opportunities. We would like to enable our expertise and UNIDO’s network of contacts to help foster new businesses in the continent. In this respect, we have also strengthened our presence in Western Africa by appointing a new advisor in Senegal, who joins our existing advisors in Algeria, Ethiopia, and Mozambique.

In addition to Africa, we have also been focusing on enhancing the registration of unique Japanese technologies on our Sustainable Technology Promotion Platform (StePP), and also undertaking other area programmes, including organizing specialized business matching events in Japan for countries such as Bangladesh, Fiji, Pakistan, and Uzbekistan in Asia and Pacific, and Argentine in Latin America.

In 2019, we also had the privilege to welcome our Director General Li Yong to Japan on two occasions, once for bilateral consultations and promotion in April and again during TICAD7 in August where he met with Japanese and African leaders.

Since our establishment in 1981, we have been facilitating B2B and B2G meetings and follow-up activities to bridge Japanese investors and technology holders with markets in developing and emerging countries, under the neutrality of the United Nations. These are our key functions. Thanks to the cooperation of all stakeholders, we have been able to contribute to important projects in various parts of the world every year and we are proud of our achievements.

We highly value the attention and support rendered by all stakeholders and look forward to undertaking exciting new projects and activities going forward in 2020, and welcome your enquiries.

Yuko Yasunaga, Head
